

Capitalism is failing us... Anarchism is fighting back

The economy's crashing, the dole queues are growing. Yet the crooked bankers and developers responsible for the credit bubble are untouchable - because the politicians and regulators supposed to hold them to account all their had their noses in the same trough.

The pundits on TV and radio bluster to cover their confusion, make token tutting noises about the corruption, then shake their heads and agree, that in the end its the ordinary workers and taxpayers that will have to foot the bill. Because that's just the way it has to be...

...Or is it?

For a different point of view, come to a public meeting by the WSM on the real causes of the crisis and alternatives to cutbacks on our services and attacks on our living standards.

Public Meeting
